A dull and dreary month--typical of November. Though total rainfall was down on normal, it rained on more days than usual. The first produced rain at a rate of over 6 inches an hour for a short period, one of the heaviest falls on record here.

Sunshine was well down, the 13 sunless days adding to this, though by no means a record for the month.

Temperatures remained about average, with ground frost a quarter up on normal.

Due to the frost and rain ground temperatures are now depressed by about half a degree on the usual for November. 41 gale force gusts occurred.
